Took Easily to Strong Drink. It was some time about the middle of the seventeenth century that the practice of adding hops to malt liquor was introduced into England and nu-

Historians with a taste for statistics have found that in 1585 there were 26 breweries in the city of London and that their output was $50,000 barrels per annum. CHIGGER ON HIS ANNUAL VISIT

By United Press.

Washington, July 14.-The annual visit of the chigger is on. Throughout the Mississippi valley states, as far north as Illinois and Missouri and states, the chigger is making bimself known wherever people picnic or work in the long grass, though some call him the harvest mite and others merely the red bug. Barefoot boys know him best and love him least

The chigger's habit is to affix himself with all his eight legs to the boy's bare skin-or to worm himself in some mysterious manner through a plenicker's silken hosiery-enter the pores of the skin and stay there. In few hours the spot becomes very painful and causes intense itching. . The large inflamed spots are often + ingnosed as hives, nettle rush, udticaria, or wheals, and closely resembles the bite of mosquitoes. On the + second or third day a minute water hlister usually developes. If a bath or salt is taken within a few hours, no III effects are likely.

PORTER TRIES TO BUY ROAD Portland, Ore., July 14.-James J. Hill's Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads still remain in the hands of that and other gentlemen. This is in the face of the fact that Harry Tipton, Great No. thern porter won $1,500 in a contest. When he won the money he rushed to the offices of the companies, and attempted to buy the railroads. Informed that the roads were not for sale, he told the management that he formerly was a porter but that he had entirely too much money just now to work for the company any longer and resigned.

Thought Last Day at Hand. A family of four, including the grandfather, were coming up from Florida by easy stages, and stopped over night in Richmond. The old gentleman had reached the border line of dotage and had to be pretty carefully watched. It happened that in the room over his some water was spilled on the floor, and, leaking through the thin ceiling, it dripped on the old man's bed. When his daughter entered his room in the morning she found her father sitting bolt upright in bed, just under the leak, with an umbrella spread over him, and an expression of terror on his face. "Maria, Maria," he whispered haskily, "the day of judgment has come!"

Proud City of Smyrna.

Smyrna can lay claim to a loftier lineage than perhaps any other city on the earth. It is her proud boast that from the earliest dawn of history down to the present combardment her continuity of name and fame is un-broken. It is in this spirit that she claims Homer for a citizen. His river, the Meles, which gave him a name runs near the city; and the cave is still shown where he wrote his poems. Smyrna has not been slack in appropriating Homer, endowing him even with a local temple. The suddest chapters in the history of the city are those which record earthquakes andmassacres of Greeks by Turks.
